Many Accidents Caused By Icy Highways In Area Tuesday Night

A snowstorm moved into Western Kentucky Tuesday afternoon and by nightfall the ground was covered with four inches or more of snow.

State and local police reported several automobile and truck wrecks during the afternoon and night, but no one was seriously injured.

Tuesday afternoon about five o'clock two trucks and three cars were piled up on Whitesell Hill on the Union City Highway just west of Fulton.

A Union City woman ran into the back end of a Fulton Pure Milk truck. The woman received a slightly injured knee.

Pete's Wrecker and Constable James Adams were called to the scene of the accident. While Adams was investigating his accident two others occurred, he said.

A car driven by a woman ran into the back end of a Pipeline Gas truck. She received a cut lip and a couple of teeth were knocked out. She was taken to a local hospital.

Then another car, driven by a man, skidded on the icy highway and left the pavement on the left side of the highway.

Considerable damage was done to the vehicles involved, according to Pete's Wrecker service.

There were at least two accidents last night on the Martin Highway. A 1956 car was damaged when it ran into a bank, and a big Van truck left the highway.

Just south of Clinton there were two accidents, one a car, and the other a truck.

A number of people injured were carried to the Clinton Hospital.

There were a number of accidents on the Mayfield highway, also.

Three persons were injured in one accident near Arlington.

Schools in Graves County and in Weakley County, Tenn., were closed Wednesday because of slick roads.

State police reported that Western Kentucky roads were exceptionally slick, especially on hills and bridges.

Extreme care in travel was urged.

Driving was also described as very hazardous in the Madisonville and Bowling Green areas, where snow had fallen most of the day.

Central Kentucky and the Louisville area were due for heavy snow, starting about midnight and continuing through today.

The storm reached the mountains of Kentucky late in the day and roads were becoming slick by nightfall.

The storm spread into the southland with snow reported as far south as Northern Mississippi and Alabama.

A fall of seven inches were reported in Nashville where the fall was continuing and US-70 between Little Rock, Ark., and Memphis was closed to traffic. US-66, "the Main Street of America" was

Fulton City Council Rejects KU Franchise Offer

KU Denied Franchise, Retail Liquor Zoned

In four important items of business to come before it at last Monday night's meeting, the Fulton Council voted to reject a 20-year franchise agreement submitted by the Kentucky Utilities Company, to limit retail liquor dealers to locations within the central business district, to prepare assessments against affected property owners in Highlands for sewer lines now being installed, and to plan construction of an enlarged city garage for storage and servicing the city's 17 pieces of wheeled equipment.

In the matter of the proposed franchise between the City of Fulton and the Kentucky Utilities Company, KU proposed a 20-year pact which included an "additional consideration" to the City of 3% of the Company's gross revenue derived from electric customers within the city's corporate limits.

Discussion on the matter revealed that the city stood to gain around $6000 a year on the 3% proposition, but would lose the

$2400 yearly that KU is now paying as a special tax; that if the franchise were granted, the Electric Plant Board of Fulton would have no purpose for further existence since the City could not at the same time pursue the Board's

Polio Auction Gets Underway Here Monday

The month-long annual Radio Polio Auction got underway over WFUL Monday morning. The auction is being held at the old Taylor Chevrolet building on East Fourth Street. The auctioneer again this year is Col. Charlie Burrow, assisted by Johnnie Stettin.

The auction will be held each weekday, Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., and from 1 to 4 p. m. each Saturday.

Many items are needed for the auction.

At the Rotary Club's luncheon meeting at the Park Terrace today (Tuesday) Col. Burrow and Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, local Polio drive chairman, auctioned off a box of candy in a progressive auction and the candy brought $170.

Jones Family In Auto Accident In Corpus Christi

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones and sons, Gordon and Tommy, escaped with only minor injuries, in a five-car smashup in Corpus Christi, Texas, where they were visiting his brother, Jerry, during the Christmas holidays.

There was a long string of traffic. One driver started to pass and had to dart back into the line of traffic as a car was approaching from the opposite direction. The wreckless driver caused other drivers to have to apply their brakes abruptly, causing about five cars to pile up.

The Jones' had to spend several days in Corpus Christi while their car was being repaired. The damages came to approximately $400.

Mrs. Jones received a bruised leg and Tommy a knot on the head. Both injuries were not serious.

Fulton High Game Is Cancelled

The basketball game between the Fulton High Bulldogs and North Marshall was called off last night due to the bad weather. Mansfield Martin, principal, said the Bulldogs got as far as Wingo last evening and turned back as the roads were so icy. Mr. Martin then called North Marshall and called off the game, to be played at a later date.

Rodney Miller Named New City Attorney

Rodney Miller has been named City Attorney for the City of Fulton, replacing James Warren, long-time city attorney who did not re-apply for the position for the next two-year term.

Mr. Miller, who heads the list of city employees along with long-time City Clerk Miss Martha Smith, was sworn in Monday night and assumed his duties. According to the financial arrangement stated to the Council, he will receive a salary of $250 per month.

Mr. Miller's appointment was the only new one made by the Council at Monday's meeting; all other principal city employees were reappointed to their jobs.

The list includes: Mrs. Ruby Winstead and Mrs. Shirley Hawks, assistant city clerks; Glenn (Nemo) Williams, Fire Chief; Roy Nethery, Police Chief; Hassell Williams, Assistant; Policemen Stanley Beadles, E. W. Bethel, Carmi Page, Archie Martin, J. B. Lee, and A. E. Campbell.

H. A. Lowe and John McAlister were reappointed to the Fire Department; W. D. Powers and W. A. Roach to the water department; Jack Maddox and J. H. Harrison to the gas department; Cliff Johnson, Garbage, and Ernest Brady, Streets.

ABC Board Refuses To Reconsider Penalty Imposed On K. P. Dalton

In a hearing conducted at Frankfort on December 29th, the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board refused to reconsider a penalty imposed on K. P. Dalton, doing business as KP's Liquor Store on Kentucky Avenue, and ordered suspension of the store's retail beverage licenses from January 3 to January 28th.

Dalton sought in the hearing to be given a more reasonable penalty, stating that he believed the Board's action excessive in view of the fact that he and Robert (Bob) White had agreed to terminate their partnership in the firm.

Previously, the Board's action has been caused because of the firm's failure to list both partners in applying for a license, which is in violation of State law.

In its findings on Dalton's appeal for reconsideration, the Board concluded that the law had been violated and that its previous action would stand.

Highland Water District Disbands

The Highlands Water District, an independent Authority established in October 1953 was dissolved this week and a surplus of $10,036.06 pro-rated back among water users on a basis of $1.88 per month for each month water was bought by the respective customer.

The dividend was accumulated through a monthly overcharge arrangement established in 1953, to retire bonds floated when the district was organized, to take care of anticipated operational costs.

S. W. "Sonie" Madding, Local Garageman, Retires

By Ouida Jewell

S. W. "Sonie" Madding, who has served the twin-cities as a garageman for the past many years, has passed his 65th birthday and has decided to retire, although he said that if anyone ever needed him to just give him a call.

Mr. Madding, who has operated his own garage at 117 Morris Street in South Fulton for the past 31½ years, is proud of the fact that he has always gotten along with all his customers and wants to thank them all for their patronage over the years.

Mr. Madding's garage is one of the few of its type left. It has the dirt floor and customers stood around the old pot-bellied stove standing in the center.

Now that he's decided to "retire" and draw his social security, Mr. Madding plans to do a lot of hunting and fishing. He owns his own rig and at present does a lot of squirrel hunting.

Mr. Madding and his wife own their home at 401 West State. Line. He is a veteran of World War I and is a charter member of the American Legion. He attends services at Union Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Madding, a big, jolly fellow, was born at Hornbeak, Tenn., on July 20, 1893, son of the late John and Sara Lee Madding. His mother passed away in 1909 and his father in 1946.

Mr. Madding attended school at Cobb's Chapel north of Hornbeak. His first job was farming. He first farmed with H. P. Roberts north of town on Highway 94, before he married. The next year he made a crop with Walter Holt near Samburg, Tenn., then he went into the Army.

Upon receiving his discharge he married Miss Mary French of Crutchfield in 1918.

an ordinance be enacted limiting retail liquor dealers to the "central business district" of the community, prohibiting such firms from further seeking locations in suburban areas zoned for "Highway" or "neighborhood" business.

Specifically, the action was aimed for the present at Highlands, in which area L. C. Adams has sought — thus far unsuccessfully — to move his retail liquor license from a downtown location.

Mr. Adams, present at the meeting, objected to the proposed action, calling it "discrimination" against his business. A member of the Council pointed out, however, that the citizens of Highlands have voiced strong feelings against such a business in their area, and that in every case that had so far come before the Council involving the citizens in Highlands, the Council had taken their side, and he felt that their wishes should be respected. Plain Talk

By Bill Hays

Practically everyone has seen, used, or read THE UPPER ROOM, the world's most widely used guide to personal and family devotions. Everyday more than ten million people use the guide. Although it is published by the Methodist Church, many protestant denominations use it.

But few people know that there is actually an Upper Room and that it has one of the largest and finest woodcarvings of the "Last Supper" in the world.

The building is located at 1908 Grand Avenue in Nashville. The chapel occupies the upper floor and the lower floor contains O.B. JETS D'ART gathered and contributed by missionaries and donors from all over the world.

Upon entering the second floor chapel, attention is immediately focused on the polychrome wood carving of the "Last Supper." The copy of Leonardo da Vinci's painting was done in lime wood and walnut by Ernest Pellegrini, who has many notable wood carvings in America's churches and cathedrals.

The work to actually produce the sculpture required more than fifty workers to complete it. It took fourteen months from the beginning until it was finished. The perspective of the carving is amazing, its depth actually gives it a three dimensional effect. The work is so arranged that the eye is immediately attracted to the face of the Christ.

Leonardo da Vinci painted one of the saddest scenes in the history of painting. It depicts the scene when Christ tells his apostles that one of them shall betray him. Ernest Pellegrini has done a remarkable job of recapturing this expression.

Residents Of South Fulton Asked To Donate To Highway Patrol Building

The residents of South Fulton have been asked to contribute $250.00 on the new Tennessee Highway Patrol building at Union City.

The building has been completed and $300 is needed to complete payment on the structure. The bulk of the money raised for the construction of the building was solicited by the Union City Jaycees.

According to information furnished the South Fulton Council by C. D. Jones and Richard Thompson, all districts in Obion County have contributed to the building with the exception of District I and District 16 (South Fulton).

Mr. Jones and Mr. Thompson, who had been contacted by the Union City Jaycees, told the council that now that the building had been completed, the state of Tennessee will furnish the building with furniture and equipment and will keep it up. An additional officer and car have been added, also.

Mayor Milton Counce said that the new patrol building will benefit South Fulton residents as they will have a better place where to take their driver's tests. The building is located near the Reelfoot Packing Company on the southwest edge of town.

The South Fulton council then passed a resolution, asking the South Fulton Booster Club, the P-TA and residents of South Fulton to contribute to the fund needed. The City of Union City donated the lot on which the building was constructed.

At the meeting of the South Fulton Council Monday night, the council voted to order 800 city auto tags, and also voted on the voting places in South Fulton. The No. 1 voting place will be at the city hall and No. 2 will be at a location to be announced later on the east side of Highway 45-E.

The council also voted to order necessary gas regulators for both of the gas control stations.

South Fulton Student Injured

David McKinney, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKinney is resting as well as could be expected today at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis. McKinney was injured when he fell off his bicycle near his grandfather's house Sunday afternoon. His head struck a rock, and a skull fracture resulted.

Young McKinney, a third grader at South Fulton, fractured his skull in a fall down the post-office steps here in September 1958.

Money Raised For Polio Fund At Rotary Club Meeting Tuesday

In a rapid-fire, high-pressure selling job and auction at the Fulton Rotary Club's luncheon meeting Tuesday, March of Dimes Auctioneer Charley Burrow extracted the handsome sum of $173 from members of the Fulton Rotary Club to serve as a pump-primer for the '60 campaign for funds, now underway.

Charley managed the whole thing in under ten minutes.

He began by asking who would contribute $10 for the box of candy (donated by City Drug) that he held in his hand. Several volunteered the money. One who hadn't reached out for his coffee cup for that last swallow and promptly got his name added to the list. Another reached up to straighten his tie, and Charlie, mistaking the action for an affirmative bid, called his name too.

Before he was through, everyone had contributed either $10 or $5, and the candy was presented with the compliments of the Club to a visitor, Rotarian Ralph Schutte of Paducah, who promptly gave it back for further action. In a real auction that followed, Happy Hogan bought the candy for $4.50.

All in fun, of course — and all for an excellent cause. But the $173 derived was real, hard cash, and was deposited in the March of Dimes treasury by Mrs. C. H. McDaniel, city co-chairman, who attended the luncheon with the good Colonel.

Bowling Alley To Be Opened In Fulton

Five local business and professional men have joined together in a new business venture and plan to open up a big bowling alley here about April 1.

The bowling alley will be located in the building on East Fourth Street, formerly housing the Taylor Chevrolet Company. The parking lot will be in the back and the entrance will be gained on Carr Street. Dan Taylor has purchased a house on Carr Street, which will be torn down and a driveway built there. A small house in the back will also be torn down and a parking lot built there.

The five partners in the business are Dan Taylor, Paul Heltz, Stanley Jones, Duke Crews and Sidney Miller.

Mr. Taylor is owner of the Taylor Chevrolet-Buick Co.; Mr. Heltz is employed by Southern Bell; Mr. Jones is co-owner of the Park Terrace Restaurant and Motel and Jones and House Plumbing Co.; Mr. Crews is co-owner of Duke's Auto Parts; and Mr. Miller is new Fulton city attorney.

A name for the new bowling alley is wanted. If you have a suggestion fill out the coupon elsewhere in today's paper, and mail to P. O. Box 383. The winner will receive a new bowling ball, if he or she doesn't have one already, if so, the winner will receive a war bond.

Mrs. Doyle Admitted To Baptist Hospital

Mrs. George Doyle, owner of The Tiny Toggery, was transferred from the Fulton Hospital to the Baptist Hospital in Memphis Monday in a Hornbeak ambulance. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Ella Doyle, and her sister, Miss Sadie LeMaster of Jackson, Miss.

A Tribute to Our Mayor and Council

In our observation, Fulton has one of the best Mayors and City Councils today that it has ever had. Few citizens ever come down to the monthly meetings (although the meetings are always open and visitors are welcome), but if they did, they would see a group of businessmen gathered around the table, tackling the problems of the City with energy, promptness and foresight.

As mayor of the City, Nelson Tripp is doing an outstanding job. There's no telling how many hours of his spare time he devotes to the job after he finishes his full-time job each day with the Illinois Central, but they must be considerable. Where various of his predecessors have apparently treated the job as something to think about just before the meeting starts, Nelson spends hours on inspections, plans, surveys and thinking ahead. More often than not, by meeting-night he has something all drawn up and ready to be put into action.

We think that Fulton is profiting, and will profit in future years, from such energy and attention. Not only are we getting things done, we are also planning for the future.

The Councilmen, scarcely to be outdone, have also handled their numerous jobs of the City facilities with enthusiasm and dispatch. We are getting more and better service from the City Hall now than ever before, yet on a very limited budget.

And now, as Councilman John Earle steps down and Guy Fry joins the other five and Mayor Tripp as Fulton's final Mayor and Council before the City Manager plan goes into effect in 1962, we think they all deserve a lot of thanks, a vote of confidence, and an expression of full cooperation during the next two years.

They deserve it, and it's about all of the other five and Mayor Tripp as Fulton's payment they get.

A Growing Hazard For Highway Users

Don't know whether you have given it much thought or not, but if you are a regular driver on the highways these days you should be coming to the realization that a new type of accident is taking an increasingly heavy toll and will probably will become more common as the highways get straighter and faster.

That is the rear-end collision.

Today wider highways have greatly lessened the side-swiping accidents that formerly occurred as one car attempted to pass another on narrow pavement; the general use of directional blinker signals have greatly diminished the hazards of making left or right turns off of busy highways either during the daytime or at night because the tell-tale blinker warns oncoming drivers from both directions of an impending turn.

But what's to warn a driver of a slow-moving car ahead, or of a car that suddenly slackens speed without applying its brakes and illuminating its stop lights? Nothing but the extreme caution and attention of all oncoming drivers . . . and believe me, sometimes distance, speed and braking capacities are very hard to judge accurately at times.

So we enter the era of the rear-end collision as one of today's growing accident factors. Coming back from St. Louis this fall we witnessed a 7-car pile-up because the rear driver misjudged his speed enough, in time. Last week we read of a 23-car chain-reaction pile-up somewhere out West, caused by the same thing.

Our greatest fear on the highways today -- and you may share it too -- is that of being the last car in a slow-moving chain over a winding or a hilly road. We always breathe the honest relief when the rear-view mirror picks up an oncoming vehicle that begins slowing down with plenty of room to spare, and not a wild man coming too fast to keep from pushing us all together like so many cans of sardines.

Drive carefully . . . and watch out for those vehicles ahead. They may be speeding . . . but they may be crawling along, too!

If you have called the radio station this week and got an answer of "The News", think nothing of it. It was just me. This week, working back and forth between The News and WFUL have sorta confused me in answering the phone. I haven't always remembered just where I was.

We would like to welcome back to Fulton Mrs. Lorene Harding. Mrs. Harding, who has been living in Memphis for the past few years, has returned here to assist her sister, Mrs. Carline Bolin, in the operation of Gardner's Studio on Commercial Avenue.

While in Memphis Mrs. Harding won several national awards with her portrait paintings.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling has been attending the General Assembly in Frankfurt this week.

Mrs. Westpheling spent Monday night with Gov. and Mrs. Bert Combs.

We understand that Nancy Adam's first recording was featured on "Dance Party" last Wednesday afternoon over WPSD-TV.

Also, we hear that the Memphis radio stations are continuously playing the record. The recording is now on sale at The House of Music here.

We had a nice visit from a Mr. Gibbs and his son from Tampa, Fla. Thursday. They are friends of Carroll Thomas, former Little League ballplayer here, who used to live at our house. The Gibbs' were visiting relatives in Clinton and they had promised Carroll they would stop by to see mother and daddy. Carroll, who was a star player with the Railroaders here for a number of years, married a few years ago and works for the City of Tampa. He also asked for me to send him a copy of my little book. It was so nice to hear from Carroll and his family.

Rumor has it that a bowling alley is coming to town and will possibly be located in the old Dan Taylor building on East Fourth Street. This will be fine as so many local people are taking such an interest in bowling.

Taking of soil samples is expected to pick up during January. February and March. County Store operators are doing a good job of promoting soil testing in some areas of the county. Obion County farmers are planning for 1960. Meetings have been held on Program Projection (planning ahead) for Livestock (Beef Cattle, Sheep and Hogs), Dairy and Field crops. These committees met and recommended month by month projects and activities for the entire year. From these meetings will come the program for the county.

With an active group planning then carrying out an Agricultural Program we can look forward to more accomplishments in 1960.

The Obion County Livestock Association, now has 100 members strong, held its Annual meeting last Wednesday night here in Union City at the Biltmore Restaurant. Eighty members attended the Annual event. At this same time last year there were 16 members of the association.

Alex Claiborne, with the State

Department of Agriculture from Brownsville spoke to the group on how important a County Livestock Association can be to livestock producers.

Directors and officers were elected for 1960. The new president is Knox Daniels, beef, cattle and hog producer from the Shady Grove Community. Mr. Daniels has been very active in the association during 1959. He served on the Feeder Pig Sale Committee that organized and conducted the first County Feeder Pig Sale held last October 18. He is an Obion County Fair director and a member of the County Court Agricultural Committee.

Vice-president named for 1960 was Parnell Garrigan, purebred Angus breeder from the Woodland Mills area. Mr. Garrigan too, has been active in association affairs during 1959. He helped organize and conduct a very successful Livestock Field Day on Better Sires last June. This was the first event of this nature held in Obion County in some years. Mr. Garrigan is vice-president of the West Tennessee Aberdeen - Angus Association.

Other officers elected included

Tom McCutchen, County Agent, Secretary and Hunter Miller, Old and Third National Bank Farm Representative, as Treasurer.

Directors named in addition to Mr. Daniels and Mr. Garrigan included: Rodney Holman, Harris Community, a beef cattle producer; Homer Isbell, beef and hog producer from Woodland Mills and the 1957 and 1958 president; J. T. Guill, Reelfoot How Farm Manager; Glynn Griffin, South Fulton hog producer; J. H. Bennett, Obion purebred beef, hog and sheep producer; W. T. Garrigan, Jr. Woodland Mills beef and sheep producer and W. T. Garrigan, Sr., also a Woodland Mills sheep producer.

An active program has been planned for the coming year. The goal is 200 members by January 1, 1961.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

A Challenge To Parents

By Mrs. Sally Leighton, housewife and mother

How to teach our children about God is one of parent's greatest challenges. The task is all the more difficult if parents' own thoughts and feelings about God are uneasy and fearful.

WHY do we find that "instruction" in religion so often becomes a warning? Threats, such as "If you disobey me, God will punish you," do nothing to secure in the child's mind a long-lasting notion of a loving, caring Father. They can even distort the image of God into a Peeping-Tom tyrant, only waiting a chance to catch us in wrongdoing. So much less often do we hear the encouraging, "God loves you best of all when you try to be good."

The less parents drag fear of the Lord into ordinary problems of discipline, the greater will be the child's freedom to love both parents and Creator. It is obvious that by limiting appeals to God's authority, their weight when needed will be greater.

HOW, then, do we teach our children to truly love God? We do it by showing them in all we do and say that He is ever in our thoughts, in the most welcome way. He is our Friend. His problems with people are our problems. His triumphs are ours. His defeats arouse our sorrow. His judgments are our judgments.

In family life, attitudes like this are reflected formally in family prayer. They are shown when we diligently beseech that heavenly lost-and-found department to find the latest mislaid article or when the family fortunes are mentioned to God for His care.

WHEN the baby is ill, a child gains comfort from hearing aloud, "And God, take care of Jimmy, we are pretty worried about him." How fortunate are the children who find father thanking God for both business success and failures as means of growing in His love.

Or when beauty of sky and water, trees and flowers, warm friends and loving grandparents fill the heart to overflowing, what a lesson in thanksgiving and adoration is learned by the child of parents who unself-consciously breathe out, "How good God is! What wonderful things He has made for our happiness! How grateful we are!"

THE CHILDREN who see all these gifts as expressions of God's love for us will know that God is very much to be desired. The fear of not sharing in God's life should be threat enough for them. With children we can safely spare the brimstone.

I had three chairs in my house: one for solitude, two for friendship, three for society.

State Income Tax Forms Are Available

Mailing of 1959 Kentucky income tax returns is under way. They also will be available at State Revenue Department field offices in Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Louisville and Paducah, and at county tax commissioner offices, courthouses, and most banks.

A short form return (740-S) has been designed for filers whose entire income consists of wages. Commissioner William E. Scent urged wage earners who do not itemize deductions, and who have a taxable income of $5,000 or less, to use this form. Taxable income for such persons would be total salaries or wages less federal taxes. Form K-2 (showing earnings and taxes withheld) must be attached to the tax return, which should not be filed until K-2 is received from the employer.

The commissioner emphasized that taxpayers should read instructions and check all computations to avoid costly mistakes. Taxpayers are urged to file early, particularly those entitled to refunds. Late filing may mean a long delay in receiving a refund.

Employers are required to give each employee a statement of the year's earnings on Form K-2 not later than Jan. 31.

Ky. Dairy Status To Be Aired At F-M Week

Kentucky's dairy industry, ranking 13th in the nation in total milk production, will be reviewed at a dairy cattle session of the 4th annual Farm and Home Week conference here at the University Jan. 26-29, 1960.

The dairy meeting is at 1 p. m. (CDT) Wednesday, Jan. 27, at the Dairy Center building, with E. C. Scheidenhelm, UK Agricultural Extension Service dairy specialist, presiding.

The Farm-Home Week conference proper opens on Tuesday, Jan. 26, with a one-day session on rural leadership development and training.

Scheidenhelm pointed out that Kentucky has 566,000 dairy cows, each with an average yearly production of 4,580 pounds of milk, for a rank of 39th in the nation-production-wise. And, he said, only 3.52 percent of Kentucky milk cows are on testing programs designed to increase herd quality and production levels.

The session opens with a movie on efficiency in dairy production. First talk will be by Robert Walton, UK dairy department, on "Why Dairymen Should Be Interested in Solids-Not-Fat." A panel on dairy production problems will follow; participants are Robert Conner, Falls City Cooperative Milk Producers Association fieldman, Louisville; C. W. Shipman, Shelbyville dairyman; Albert Davis, Department of Welfare dairy supervisor, Frankfort; Dr. J. T. Bryans, UK Experiment Station pathology department virologist; and Dr. Durward Olds, UK dairying professor. Moderator is Dr. D. M. Seath, UK dairy department head.

The session concludes with talks on production testing trends by E. C. Troutman, UK Extension Service dairy specialist; and whether production records actually pay, by Jack Nisbet, Columbus, Ohio industry specialist.

South Fulton Team Loses To Union City

Union City's unbeaten Golden Tornado soundly trounced the once-beaten South Fulton Red Devils 88-65 Saturday night at Union City. It was the ninth straight win for Union City, and it was South Fulton's second loss of the season. The Red Devils had lost only to Grove High of Paris in a one-point decision early in December.

GRASS FIRE THURSDAY

The South Fulton Fire Department was called out at 11:20 a. m. Thursday to put out a grass and rubbish fire at the home of W. C. Jacobs on Covington Avenue.

3 Highway Employees From Fulton County Dropped From Payroll

The Combs administration already has chopped nearly 50 workers off the highway department rolls of the First District of Kentucky. Many of the workers held jobs created by the administration of A. B. (Happy) Chandler, and will not be replaced.

Six maintenance supervisors were among those receiving termination notices from Frankfort.

South Fulton Water Approved

For the first time in more than two years citizens of South Fulton last week began drinking state-approved water, but if they failed to notice any difference, it's not because of anemic taste buds.

Mayor Milton Counce said the water is the same quality they've been drinking since South Fulton fell off the state approved list in 1957.

"When our former water plant operator retired a few years ago," Mayor Counce explained today, "his replacement was not qualified, according to state standards, because he had not attended the required classes given by the state. They dropped our city rating to 87, three points below the minimum standard for approval."

Mayor Counce said he personally attended the required classes in 1958 but that state inspectors did not return to reassess the city's physical plant until 1959. Approval was announced by the state last week.

The new rating for South Fulton is 96, well over the minimum requirements, th mayor said.

The state last week also approved water works systems at Pickwick Dam and Ridgely. The Ridgely system has been rated at 94.

They include Paul Wright of Fulton. The six were discharged in what appears to be a reshuffle. Wright served in both the Wetherby and Chandler administrations.

Among the county foremen released were R. H. Matson of Fulton County. The new foreman for Fulton County is J. L. Henning.

Other highway employees discharged by the administration include Sam Harper of Hickman County.

No one has been named to succeed Joe Phillips, district supervisor for the department of revenue who died in December. Jack Kennedy is field agent for the department in this area. He has been with the revenue department 24 years.

Vet Representative To Be In Fulton

D. Nisbet, a contact representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board will be present on Jan. 15, 1960, at the American Legion Hall in Fulton, to assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service.

He will be present from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m.

Miss Rebecca Edwards Becomes Bride Of Hugh Franklin Miller, Jr.

By Agatha Gayle Voelpel

In a lovely setting marked by dignity and simplicity, Miss Rebecca Edwards, daughter of Mrs. Everett Lee Bradley and C. D. Edwards became the bride of Hugh Franklin Miller, Junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Franklin Miller of Paducah, Kentucky on December the thirty-first at four o'clock in the afternoon. The impressive double ring ceremony was solemnized in the First Baptist Church with the Reverend Hankins Parker of Paducah officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by members of the families and close friends.

The altar was beautiful with numerous wrought iron candelabra holding tall white candles. Arrangements of fern were at the base of each candelabra. Centering the nuptial setting was a large sunburst arrangement of specimen white gladioli and white carnations. Additional arrangements of candles studded the choir rail which was draped with greenery.

As the guests assembled Mrs. J. U. McKendree, organist, presented a program of nuptial music which included the traditional English folk song "Greensleeves", the Bach chorale "Sheep May Sweetly Graze", the Schubert "Ave Maria", and the wedding hymn "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden." She also used the Wagner and Mendelssohn Wedding Marches. Miss Carole Green, soprano, sang the Bond "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony and the "Wedding Prayer" following the pastoral prayer.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was an original design fashioned on snow white pure silk peau de sole combined with imported Chantilly lace poised over tulle. The empire bodice was fashioned of the exquisite lace with a scalloped sabrina neckline. Miniature lace covered buttons closed the bodice in the back. The brief sleeves were scalloped and she wore lace gauntlets buttoned from the elbow to petal points over the hands. The pelon lined twelve-gore ballerina skirt was worn over period petticoats. The skirt had a wide lace panel inset at the back which was held by Attention bows.

Her misty illusion veil fell from a cap of pleated illusion ornamented with satin folds which were beaded with seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a large white orchid nestled in illusion puffs and placed on a white Bible.

The maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Ann Wooten, cousin of the bride. She wore a Christmas red frock made entirely of silk chiffon. Intricate draping distinguished the entire dress. A small flat yoke encircled her neck. She wore a red velvet Dior bow and her satin slippers were matching red. She wore short white kid gloves and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Dan Dunagan served the groom, as best man. The ushers were Jerry Oakley, Charles Jacob, Jerry Douglas and Larry Moore.

Mrs. Bradley, the bride's mother, wore a softly tailored suit of mauve wool with self covered buttons; her blouse was of mauve chiffon and her shell hat was of velvet leaves in shades of pink and mauve. Her corsage was a vivid purple orchid.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom, wore an afternoon frock of Empress blue wool ornamented with matching lace and studded with rhinestones. Her hat was of black velvet and she also wore a deep purple orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's register table was covered with a maderia cloth and was decorated with a tall wedding candle encircled by tulle and a white and gold wedding pen.

The bride's table was draped with a ruffles floor length net cloth over taffeta. Centering the table was an arrangement of miniature chrysanthemums, and gladioli with puffs of illusion and tiny white wedding bells tied with satin ribbons. Branched silver candelabra flanked this arrangement.

Whitnel, H. F. DeZonia, Mrs. L. O. Bradford, Miss Betsy Whitsett, Mrs. Clanton Meacham, Miss Jessie Whitsett of Union City, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. McKendree and Marilyn, Hunter Whitsett, Mrs. J. E. Mr. and Mrs. Rucker received many gifts, wires and calls.

Fulton High School News

By Janice Davis

All eyes were drawn to the window as if by a magnetic force. What strange thing was this that attracted the attention of everyone in the class? Simply a fluffy white precipitation called snow which started its wintry descent Tuesday morning. With a slightly belated atmosphere, such was the second day of school after the holidays.

After our bit of snow watching, it is definitely back to the 'grind' for us. Beginning at 1:00 Tuesday are those horror inspiring semester exams. On Wednesday the exams for the first three periods will be taken. Seventy minutes is allowed for each. Thursday the fourth and fifth period class tests are scheduled. School starts at nine o'clock both days and there will be no school Friday although the teachers will be there.

When a student does not have an exam, he does not have to be in school; but he may not remain in the halls. Anyone caught cheating will be flunked no matter what his daily grades have been.

For Christmas the Future Homemakers of America put a tree on the stage and food for a needy family was donated and placed under the tree. 115 cans of food were so brought to school and they were given to some needy family.

Last Tuesday night Fulton played th North Marshall basketball team there. The result should be known by now. Tomorrow night is a game no one should miss. We play Cuba here for the polio benefit game. All proceeds of the game will be given to the polio fund. Season tickets will not be valid for this annual and worthwhile game.

It is disappointing to say that the Bulldogs haven't been doing as well as could be hoped in this basketball season, but Coach Charlie Thomas has some optimistic aims for the boys... (oh, I forgot again...) men (orders, you know) for the basketball tournament. I've got my fingers crossed, too.

There isn't much to tell of this week's school activities. Everyone seems to be recuperating from the holiday vacation and wishing they were back on one with exams coming up. In fact one boy in my English class was so flustered that while reading a Scottish ballad of the devil taking off with some farmer's wife he said, "and through hell's gate." Amid laughs and giggles he quickly changed it to its original hall's gate.

Johnson-Burgess Nuptials Are Exchanged On December 16th

Miss Carol Faye Johnson, daughter of Mrs. John Ramsey, Pryorsburg, Route 1, and Fred Johnson of Moline, Ill., and Chester Franklin Burgess, Hickory Route 1, were united in marriage at the First Baptist church in Brookport, Ill., Dec. 16. Mr. Burgess' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Burgess of Hickory.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Robert R. Beaty.

HOW ARE THINGS WITH RADIO THESE DAYS?

Fine! Thank You! With More People Listening To RADIO Than Are Watching Television!

"MORE LISTENING THAN LOOKING"

says Sindlinger in the August 10, 1959 issue of BROADCASTING -- The Businessweekly of Television and Radio. The following article appeared on page 52:

HEYDAY FOR RADIO: Its total audience now outnumbers tv's

Radio's audience exceeded that of television during the last three weeks of July for the first time in two years, according to a report released last week.

Sindlinger & Co., business analysts of Ridley Park, Pa., stated that a three-week trend beginning during the week ending July 9 shows that 79.4 million Americans 12 years and older listened to the radio, whereas 78.6 million persons watched tv during the same period.

During the week ending July 16 daily radio listening was attributed to 79.1 million people and daily tv viewing to 77.9 million.

During the week ending July 23 radio reached 79.3 million listeners while tv was seen by 77.1 million.

Sindlinger said that the last time radio listening surpassed tv viewing was in 1957, just before the release of pre-1948 movies to television. Radio listenership was also higher during one week of the 1956 political conventions.

Albert E. Sindlinger, president of the firm, stated that radio entertainment usually increases in popularity during the summer months, with the high point coming at the end of August, but in 1958 it did not outdistance tv. The pre-1948 films "supported" tv last summer, according to Mr. Sindlinger.

UK Doing Plant Research For AEC

A University of Kentucky researcher will try to discover the calcium feeding patterns of plants for the Atomic Energy Commission under a one-year $11,895 grant for the institution.

Dr. Herbert Massey, associate professor of soils and an agronomist in the College of Agriculture, will carry out the project announced yesterday by the Kentucky Research Foundation, administrator of the contract.

"Strontium, contained in radioactive fallout from atomic and hydrogen bombs, is taken up by plants in the same manner as calcium," Dr. Massey said. "Determining the calcium feeding pattern of plants will also determine how they will feed on strontium."

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

As we look back upon the past year, even with all its problems and difficulties, we have much for which to be thankful. In my opinion we are sometimes really more mindful of our blessings than we may seem. A drought, flood or crop failure can never be so bad that it couldn't have been worse. Prices can not be so low that they could not have been lower. When we look back at 1959 in this light, we must admit that even with all our troubles, it could have been more critical.

The New Year, 1960 offers much to all of us when we look the field over for opportunity to new accomplishments. Let us all approach the coming seasons with this in mind, and make the best of each challenge to better our past records. I believe that at the end of the year you will admit it was more profitable and sometimes even enjoyable, when each problem is met face to face in this manner.

Farmers, as a whole, endure more trouble spots in their work than any other group of people. Yet at the same time, there is much satisfaction and pleasure to be derived from living in the wide open spaces, and working with nature for the betterment of mankind.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish you a very happy and prosperous New Year, DOWN ON THE FARM.

DIRECT SEEDING FOR PINE

We are learning new ideas every day and some of them seem to have merit whereas others just pass by without much comment. The idea of direct seeding for pine is new, that is we have been using this method less than 5 years with machine. Mother nature has been using this method for thousands of years, but without a seeding machine. She has done a fine job too, maybe we can help.

The Tennessee Pulp and Paper Co. has been using the direct method and has a seeder that does a good job planting. There are complications to every 'good' thing that comes along, so we will discuss the good and bad together. Among the advantages listed are: economy, speed and growth. In the economy column we find that pine seed sell for $5.00 per pound and there are 18,000 seed per pound. You can seed pine just about as fast as the tractor will run over the field or about the speed of a corn planter. As to growth the seeded pine does well and does not suffer a set-back the first or second season by transplanting.

Now for the trouble spots in direct seeding. We can expect only 50 percent survival at best with treated seed. If the seed are not treated you will get nothing. These little pine seed lay on top of the ground and look very tasty to every hungry bird or squirrel. If seed were treated to avoid this there could be trouble with some wild game. The most difficult phase of direct seeding in the fields to be seeded. The seeder will only work well in level loose soil and that almost closes our case, for a while at least. We can use our mechanical seedling planter on very rough ground, but it took years of experience to build a planter that would do the job. It looks as if we have a job before us forestry wise.

It is just an idea to be looking forward to tomorrow Down On The Farm.

WINTER PASTURE?

The pasture season has ended for most farmers in this area, except for dry cows and heifers that are found grazing what is left of last fall's grass. This pasture is what I would like to discuss with you now. Too often we see dairy cows as well as beef cattle grazing fields with little or no growth. You should not be misled when someone talks of winter grazing. There is such a thing, however, and it is possible to have some winter pasture, but it is expensive if not carried out properly.

There is no grass legume combination that we know of today that can be grazed 12 months and expect production. We can have winter pasture by fertilization in the summer according to a soil test and keeping the field free from weeds and not permitting any grazing during the summer months. There will be ample growth to allow much winter grazing at least during the early winter days. No field should be grazed too closely or you could lose the stand in severe cold weather.

Winter oats and Rye make very good late winter pasture and may be grazed through spring or get a crop of grain. For the dairyman, the cover crop will give greater returns through grazing than in a grain crop. All dairy cows and heifers should be supplemented with hay and silage or at least hay regardless of the amount of pasture on hand.

The beef cows that have grown fat on lespedeza pasture and have weaned their calves could be turned out to pasture with little supplementing of other forage. Cows of lesser condition or cows with calves should get additional hay or silage.

Remember, winter pasture is not a field that has been cut for hay or abandoned waste land. Winter pasture doesn't just happen, it is a planned forage program just as our breeding program is planned. The fields we expect to graze in the winter should be especially reserved as such and fertilized in such a way as to have ample growth by October 1, and even this pasture can not be expected to last all winter. The dairyman and the sheepman can not rely on rescue pasture alone for top production.

Bluegrass 4-H'ers Win Top Award

Achievement in 4-H Club work has won 1959 state championships for two Bluegrass 4-H'ers. Certificates of honor will be awarded to Jenny Maffet, 16, 411 Pennsylvania, Elizabethtown, and Martha Belle Bertram, 20, Rt. 1, Mt. Vernon. The announcement comes from the State Extension office, University of Kentucky.

An expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 29-Dec. 3 also was awarded to Maffet. During his six-year 4-H Club career he completed 21 projects and received 72 ribbons, including 26 championships.

In 1957, when he was on the state champion livestock judging team, he won a Chicago trip. The team placed 28th in the nation and he was the highest man. His contour cultivation team and yard improvement project also have received high state honors. Maffet is president of the Hardin County 4-H Council, president of the Morningside 4-H Club and a junior leader. In 1956, he received a trophy as most outstanding baseball player in the Little League.

Cow-winner Martha Bertram is a senior at Western Kentucky State College. This 11-year 4-H'er has managed to continue her 4-H activities while away from home. She has won state honors in 4-H garden, poultry, frozen foods, safety, and recreation.

In 1954, she was both state and national champion in beautification of home grounds and attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

"My dairy project, along with swine and tobacco started me in college, and have kept me there for three years," she says.

Miss Bertram is reporter of the Etoile 4-H Club and leader and past president of the Barren County 4-H Council. She was recreational leader at Dawson Springs District 4-H Camp this past summer. Her family has been host to three young people from Puerto Rico, Switzerland, and Italy, sponsored by the International Foreign Youth Exchange program.

As state winners Miss Bertram and Maffet will be eligible to compete nationally for $400 scholarships given by Ford Motor Company which also provides the state and county achievement awards.

A&P President Sees Stability In Food Prices

Food prices should be stable in 1960 and help hold inflation in check, according to Ralph W. Burger, president and board chairman of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company.

"Abundant food supplies will continue into the new year," said Mr. Burger, "and there is strong evidence that consumer prices will be similar to or slightly below the low levels reached during 1959."

The nation's leading food retailer also foresees an industry-wide leveling off in new store openings, oversized stores in many areas which are already over-stored and the trend of the past decade toward the stocking of more and more non-food items. He said he also expects the pulling power of promotional sales gimmicks and giveaways to decline.

"I believe the industry has just about reached the saturation point in construction of store units in certain areas," he observed. "It has been growing faster than the population increase and population shifts. Of course, none of us can afford to ease up in our efforts to remain modern and to replace old stores with new ones."

During 1959 A & P opened approximately 255 new stores. Many of these, he said, were designed to serve established neighborhoods where 111 older A & P stores were closed during the same period. Another 390 stores were remodeled during the period.

Throughout Kentucky, 1960 will be full of interesting events, a glance at the new Calendar of Events released by the State Department of Public Relations shows.

The nation's greatest single-day attraction, the colorful Kentucky Derby, will run May 7. This will be the 86th "Run for the Roses."

Thoroughbred racing starts in Kentucky early in April at Lexington's Keeneland and ends at Churchill Downs, Louisville, in November. Races are held at Miles Park, Louisville; Ellis Park, Henderson, and Latonia.

Trotting races are held at several courses, the most noted being the Lexington Trots, the famous "red mile."

Two outdoor dramas are scheduled for summer — "The Stephen Foster Story" at My Old Kentucky Home, Bardonia, during June 24-Sept. 5, and "The Book of Job" at Pine Mountain State Park, June 24-Aug. 30.

Kentucky's horse show season opens in May, with the Lexington Junior League show running July 9-16. The season is climaxed with the crowning of champions at the Kentucky State Fair Horse Show at Louisville during September. The fair will offer many other attractions. County fairs continue throughout the summer and early fall.

During the year, visitors may enjoy all spectator sports, such as collegiate football and basketball and organized baseball. For those who like to try their hand with pole and line, there's the Kentucky Lake Fall Fishing Derby, tentatively set for Sept. 1-Nov. 15. Fishing is good throughout the state most of the year.

Many local festivals and pageants are held in Kentucky, including the colorful Mountain Laurel Festival at Pineville in May.

Progress In Lower Mississippi River Valley Is Announced

The year 1959 saw continued substantial progress made in water resource developments by the Corps of Engineers in the Lower Mississippi River Basin, according to Maj. Gen. W. A. Carter, President of the Mississippi River Commission.

The "Mississippi River and Tributaries Project", a comprehensive flood control and navigation improvement project, moved further toward completion of its physical features, and a review of the project was completed and submitted to the Chief of Engineers in Washington. This review, which has been under way since 1954, deals with man stem Mississippi River levees and channel improvement works as well as with flood control, major drainage, and other water uses in the tributary basins of the alluvial valley.

The lower Mississippi River itself continued to be one of the nation's busiest waterways, with more than 112½ million tons of vital commodities moving on America's liquid "Main Street."

The Mississippi River and Tributaries flood control project, authorized by Congress in 1928 following the disastrous flood of 1927, is a comprehensive, flexible plan which, in the past 31 years of its existence, has been modified many times to meet changing conditions to the project have been authorized by Congress so that in recent years authorizations and appropriations have progressed at a similar rate.

The first efforts at flood control in the valley were levees. The first levee system to be erected on the Mississippi was at New Orleans, by private citizens, started in 1717 and completed in 1727. The levee was 3 feet high, 5400 feet long, and 18 feet wide at the top with a roadway on its crown.

U. S. 150 Is Historic Road Through Ky.

Sightseers in Kentucky who follow Highway U. S. 150 from Louisville to Mt. Vernon south through the center of the state will view many historical sites, famous old-homes and superlative scenery. Known as Logan's Trace, the route follows the general direction of a branch of the original Wilderness Trail.

At Bardstown, 39 miles from Louisville, is My Old Kentucky Home, inspiration for the famous song and site of the summer outdoor drama, "The Stephen Foster Story," the first Roman Catholic cathedral in the west; the Abbey of Gethsemane, a Trappist monastery, and a monument to John Fitch, inventor of the steamboat. U. S. 150 is also known as U. S. 31-E as far as Bardstown.

At Springfield, 57 miles down the highway, the Washington County courthouse contains records of the marriage of Abraham Lincoln's parents. Near here is Lincoln Homestead State Park, with replicas of Lincoln family cabins.

Perryville, 75 miles from Louisville, was the site of the bloodiest battle ever fought in Kentucky. It was the most decisive contest of the Civil War in the state, deciding the Kentucky campaign of 1862 in favor of Union forces. A large monument marks the battlefield.

Danville's Constitution Square is the cradle of Kentucky statehood. The Commonwealth's first constitution was framed and adopted here in 1792. Old buildings include the first jail and the first postoffice west of the Alleghenies. Also at Danville, 84 miles from Louisville, is the restored home and office of Dr. Ephraim McDowell, pioneer surgeon who performed the first ovariectomy. Near here is Traveler's Rest, home of Isaac Shelby, Kentucky's first governor.

Near Sanford, 95 miles from Louisville, is the first brick house west of the Alleghenies, built by Col. William Whitley. Sanford was the seat of Lincoln County, one of the three original Kentucky counties.

Crab Orchard, 105 miles down the highway was a famous spa for nearly 100 years.

Near Mount Vernon, where U. S. 150 joins U. S. 25, 119 miles south of Louisville, is Great Salt-petre Cave. Saltpetre was mined here for use in gunpowder during the war of 1812.

Bluegrass Teens Win 4-H Honors, Trip to Chicago National Congress

An aspiration shared by 4-H'ers throughout the state has been realized by three girls and a boy who have earned the honor of attending the 35th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 30-Dec. 3.

They have been chosen for excellence in projects carried out under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, and will be eligible to compete for $400 scholarships on the Chicago scene.

Patricia Johnston, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston, 169 Kentucky, Shelbyville, a 4-H'er for the last nine years, has been cited for doing a man-sized job in the realm of entomology.

Concentrating on the study of insects for the last three years, Patricia has collected upwards of 500 varieties. Her prize winning exhibit contains 308 species of insects representing 11 orders.

Patricia is an inventor as well as collector. She has constructed her own electric bug catcher which has attracted wide attention and won a blue ribbon at the state fair.

Through her efforts two entomology groups have been started and many younger 4-H club members have been inspired to pursue insect study and control. A recreation leader and club president in 1958, Patricia is now a Georgetown College freshman.

Her expense-free trip to Chicago has been provided by Hercules Powder Co.

For outstanding work in canning, Beverly Kay Fryman, 15, has won a trip provided by the Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fryman, 207 North Main, Cynthiana.

During the last three years, Beverly has canned 660 quarts of fruit, 105 of vegetables and 92 jars of pickles.

An impressive array of award ribbons testifies to the quality—as well as quantity—of her canning project.

During her six years as club member she has participated in scores of local and district demonstrations. She is also a representative on the Harrison county 4-H council.

Expertness in dairying has won top honors for Jerry Monroe Oak, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oak of Bedford, and a trip sponsored by the Oliver Corp.

Santa Claus has had a hand in his success. It started five years ago when his father, who operates a 175-acre farm, gave him a cash Christmas gift. Jerry bought a heifer from his father, raised it for a year and then sold it back to him at a $50 profit.

Jerry has continued this success cycle, acquiring enough money to buy and raise a heifer or two a year until one is in production and milk sales cover the cost of raising the others.

Through six years of club work, he has won recognition through 11 exhibits in Trimble county. This year at the tri-county dairy show his animals were awarded four blue ribbons and three runners up.

Sandra Kaye Gilliland, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gilliland of Hopkinsville, has been awarded the Chicago trip, for excellence in a food preparation project, provided by Betty Crocker of General Mills.

A 4-H'er for six years, Sandra has become an expert both in cooking and talking food. She is active in several other projects, among them good grooming, in which she has excelled. She is president of her local 4-H Club.

From the first flip of a phonograph switch there's not a "keen teen" anywhere who isn't ready, rarin'-to-go, toes dancing to the nearest "record hop". Makes not a bit of difference whether the teen in your family be a 'he' or a 'she' record hops, plus good food to munch on, are the big hit of today. And cake is always a favorite.

A "RECORD HOP" FOR KEEN TEEN GANG

In keeping with your "record hop" party theme try making edible records... cake records! They can be quickly made with a package of the new Duncan Hines Deluxe Devil's Food Cake Mix. Follow the easy-mix directions on the package, pour into two layer pans and bake. When it's cool, split each layer into two cakes. Frost each layer separately with your favorite chocolate frosting. A circle of creamy-white icing in the middle centered with a chocolate drop nicely resembles a record label. Then, with more chocolate frosting inscribe each label with the names of four favorite top tunes.

Even the some of your fondest dreams fail to materialize, you can be thankful that many of your nightmares don't come true, either.

Cotton Growers Approve Quotas For 1960 Crop

Preliminary returns indicate that growers of both upland and extra long staple cotton approved marketing quotas for the 1960 crops in referendums held throughout the Cotton Belt Dec. 15, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Of the growers voting, early results show that 95.2 percent approved quotas for the 1960 upland cotton crop. These results compare with favorable votes a year ago of 92.2 percent for the 1959 crop.

PLAIN TALK—

The chancel and the woodcarving go together. The entire chancel is a reproduction of the room that da Vinci visualized. The ceiling, the tapestries on the walls (four on each side), and the floor is like Leonardo's painting.

The chancel rail symbolically has shields which rest between the novel posts representing the apostles. First is Peter. This shield has an inverted cross of keys representing Peter's confession and the cross signifying his request to be crucified head downward. The second is Andrew. This shield is represented by the X-like cross upon which he died in Greece. The third shield shows three scallop shells signifying James the Greater's pilgrimage and missionary journeys. The fourth shield has a chalice and a serpent carved upon it. This is John's symbolizing the story of his attempted poisoning by pagan priests. When he made the sign of the cross over the chalice, the poison escaped in the form of a serpent.

The fifth shield, Philip's, contains a central cross and two shocks of wheat referring to the time when Jesus fed the five thousand and Philip spoke of the bread. The sixth shield is that of Bartholomew containing an open Bible. Some believe it to be the same as Nathanael. It signifies the preaching of the Word to the World. The seventh shield, that of Thomas, shows a vertical spear and a carpenter's square. The legend is that Thomas went to East India and erected a church. It is said that he was shot with arrows and that a pagan priest put him to death with a spear. The eighth shield belongs to Matthew which shows three purses referring to his early occupation as tax gatherer. The ninth shield represents James the Less, represented by a saw placed vertically with the handle above. The legend is that in the nintysixth year of his life he was thrown from the top of the Temple and his body sawn asunder. The tenth shield shows a sailing ship. This symbolizes the missionary journeys of Jude, who is also known as Thaddaeus or Lebbaeus.

The eleventh shield, that of Simon Zelotes, shows a fish lying on a book, signifying that he was a fisher of men. The book contains the gospel. The twelfth shield is that of Paul which contains a rayed cross and represents the spread of the gospel to the world.

The communion table, a reproduction of the one of the paintings, is covered with a dark green velvet plush cloth with gold fringe. The symbolism of the cover is a cluster of grapes, representing the Sacrament, flanked by Alpha with cross on the left, and the Omega with cross on the right. The three altar pieces are antiques. Two silver candlesticks, each twenty-seven inches high, were originally in the private chapel of the Duke of Portsmouth, in England, dating back to about 1700. The chalice is a Persian antique of delicate etchings. The collar adds to its beauty. It is a fine example of the early Persian Christian art.

The high pupil with winding stairs is similar to many of America and England's early churches. On the pulpit is one of the oldest Christian symbols, the Christogram coming from the Greek spelling of the word Christ, XPICTOC.

The entire architecture is early colonial and Georgian, the pews and chandeliers being reproductions of early American models.

blocked for 59 miles from El Reno to Clinton, Oklahoma.

The storm raged in from the southern plains, leaving Oklahoma buried under eight inches of snow. The storm blanketed the Texas Panhandle before knifing through Arkansas.

Missouri and Illinois also were hard hit by the snowfall.

Schools were closed and basketball games were canceled in many areas.

Snow was still falling in Eastern Oklahoma last night but reports said it was diminishing in the west. Up to 12 inches was forecast for some points. A bus overturned on an icy road near Shawnee, Okla., and 12 passengers and the driver were injured.
